

MANITOWOC TO GET FOX RIVER VALLEY ATHLETIC MEETING

Lawrence College Will Not Be Host For First Time Since Organization

For the first time since the organization of the Fox River Valley High School Athletic conference, Lawrence college will not be host to the annual meeting of the eight conference schools at the annual sports meet. Representatives of the conference met last Friday afternoon at the Hotel Mayhew, Fond du Lac, to accept the invitation of Manitowoc high school to hold the contest on its new field in May.

Representatives from Appleton, Manitowoc, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Manitowish, Sheboygan and East and West Green Bay attended the meeting and the dinner which followed. Fond du Lac high school entertained the representatives and they were guests of the Fox River Valley Schoolmasters' club at the dinner. A. D. Auerwald, principal of Manitowish high school, presided at the meeting.

A resolution to resume two weeks for conference basketball games this winter was adopted. West Green Bay high school's undefeated football team was officially crowned the 1927 conference champion. East Green Bay high school was awarded the next meeting of the delegates on Jan. 12.

In spite of pressure brought to bear from outside sources and suggestions of state officials, the conference again reiterated its stand not to participate in district or state athletic tournaments of any sort. The conference decided to petition the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic athletic association for permission to hold the Valley track and field meet on the same day as the annual state track meet at Madison, the last Saturday in May.

The petition would keep Valley athletes from the state contest but at present have no effect. It will be presented to the state board of control on Dec. 28 by Henry Smith, superintendent of schools at Oshkosh, and representative of the district on the board. The petition resulted from a report of a committee on the matter consisting of O. F. Nixon, East Green Bay, Charles Cole, West Green Bay and Sidney Fell, Oshkosh, all high school principals.

Officials for the present basketball season were agreed upon and a discussion of the exorbitant fees of many of the officials in the past years was held. A committee was appointed to prepare a mileage schedule for all officials, similar to those the government allows its traveling representatives, and report at the January meeting. The committee consisted of H. H. Heible, principal of Appleton high school, O. A. Iverson, Sheboygan and H. H. Thiesen, Fond du Lac.

SPEEDERS LEAD IN NUMBER OF ARRESTS

More Than Half Hundred Taken into Custody During November, Records Show

A total of 105 arrests were made by the police department in November compared with 95 in October, according to the monthly report of George T. Prim, chief of police. Fifty-five, or more than half of arrests were for speeding. This is the largest number of arrests made for this offense in a single month this year. Chief Prim said.

The police car made 174 runs during the month for a total of 599 miles. Two search warrants were issued and five fugitives from justice were arrested.

Other arrests made by the police during the month were as follows: Parking automobile without lights 3; violation of traffic ordinances 2; violation of parking ordinances 7; operating car without license 2; assault and battery 2; drunken driving 1; parking in alleys 3; drunkenness 3; operating car without transferring license 1; bastardy 1; failing to stop at arterial highways 6; incorrigibility 7; false pretenses 2; larceny 1; disorderly conduct 1; destroying evidence 1; burglary 2.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

This week our tests have been on the question of how a Declarer should plan his campaign. Two hands were given each day, and the way the Declarer should plan to play them explained on the succeeding day.

YESTERDAY'S HANDS

In both Nos. 9 and 10, Hearts are trumps and the original lead is the King of Spades. How should Declarer plan his campaign?
No. 9. Declarer should win the trick with the Ace of Spades, then lead six rounds of trumps, then four rounds of Diamonds, leaving his Closed Hand with but two cards—the Jack of Spades and the Deuce of Clubs. Dummy with two cards—the Ace and Jack of Clubs. This is a "squeeze" play. Declarer, when he starts it, knows that West has the Queen of Spades. If he also has the King and Queen of Clubs, the squeeze must work as West must discard down to two cards and must let go either one of his high Clubs or his Queen of Spades. In one case North's Ace-Jack.

ASYLUM TRUSTEES SHOW VALUATIONS IN ANNUAL REPORT

Spent $10,218 for Permanent Improvements to Barn and Grounds in Year

Outagamie county asylum buildings and property are valued at $310,010.35, according to the annual report of the trustees of that organization. Of this total $245,470 is in structures and attached fixtures; $1044 in machinery and equipment; $13,221.50 in furniture and furnishings; $22,969 in farm lands and improvements; $54,675 in farm buildings and livestock. The balance of the valuation includes a balance of $42,703.44 charged to the county treasurer and various sums receivable from other sources.

The total cost of maintaining the asylum for the year ending June 30, 1927, was $140,014.47, according to the report. Of this sum, $42,415.56 was in salaries and other administration expenses, $30,000 the cost of operating the asylum, and the balance of $67,598.91 was for repairs and maintenance of the asylum buildings and grounds.

On June 1, 1927, there were 114 patients in the asylum, 83 of whom were men and 31 women. The total number of patients during the year was 1,147. The average number of patients during the year was 1,147. The average number of patients during the year was 1,147.

Puts Dynamite In Stove When He Tires Of Girl

her about a week ago," he told of. "She agreed to meet Sunday afternoon at 11 and I had ordered a ring. After leaving her Wednesday night, I walked half a mile to the school where she teaches. I stuffed the dynamite into the stove, wadding it with waste paper. I attached the caps and ran the fuse to the firewood so that it would be touched off when she lit the fire in the morning."

After his talk with officers Reed, who is 24 and the son of a prosperous farmer, expressed confidence that the girl would recover, would not prosecute him and would marry him.

"She was too crazy about me," he said.

"The school teacher, who is the daughter of a retired minister of Chillicothe, Ill., arrived at the one room schoolhouse in the morning ahead of the pupils, Grace Johnson, 9 years old, was with her.

A few seconds after she had lighted the fire there was an explosion. The old-fashioned stove was blown to pieces, desks were wrecked and windows shattered. The Johnson girl, unharmed, ran screaming from the school.

Taken to the home of her sister, Miss Bradford at intervals called the name of Reed, not connecting him with the explosion.

Officers looked up Reed in the early course of their investigations. He expressed no concern when told of Miss Bradford's injury and no knowledge of the dynamiting. He accompanied the sheriff to the school, surveyed the wrecked interior with polite interest and then suddenly began talking, describing in detail what had led to the explosion.

Miss Bradford was so badly mangled that three is little hope for recovery.

M'NIDER REQUESTS FINDING NEEDS OF U. S. IN WAR TIME

Assistant War Secretary Wants Nation to Be Ready for Emergency

Washington — (AP) — Recommendation that the president be requested to appoint a board to determine the war time munition needs of the nation was made Friday by Assistant Secretary MacNider, of the war department, in his annual report.

This board also would prepare a project for placing the arms into such a state of material preparedness that the assistant secretary of war would be able to make adequate plans for meeting needs.

Study of industrial mobilization possibilities disclosed conditions which brought about definite recommendations last February for modification of general staff plans as to the rate of man-power mobilization in the event of war Mr. MacNider declared.

"The general staff has already instituted a study of the mobilization plan from the viewpoint of the present legal authorization of reserves on that its possibility from a supply standpoint can be investigated," the report said. "The point has now been reached where initial requirements can be made to conform with figures in keeping with reserves authorized by Congress and the production possibilities of the country."

MUST KNOW NEEDS
Pointing out that the law charges him with the duty of making "assurances of adequate provision for the mobilization of material and industrial organizations essential to war-time needs" and that army purchases during the war reached the staggering total of $14,000,000,000, MacNider said that in order to make such assurance "there must be definite determination of war time needs."

The cost of maintaining adequate reserves in time of peace would be "prohibitive," the Assistant Secretary said, and the only solution is to plan out the production and procurement on a scale which will reduce the amount of reserves which must be kept on hand. Such planning involves cost, he added, but there was "no doubt" that intelligent planning would cost less "than reserves thereby rendered unnecessary." Already such planning has reduced costs by "many millions," he said.

Laws tending to restrict munitions contracts to the government arsenal have hampered industrial preparation, MacNider said, urging that Congress be asked to amend the act so as to permit orders to be given private factories which would both "build up depleted reserves" and serve to train plants and workers.

SCOUT LEADERS END TRAINING CLASSES

Troop Maneuvers and Puts on Initiatory Work at Friday Night Meeting

Thirty-five men attended the last of the scout leaders' training classes held under the auspices of the valley council and under the direction of J. G. Clark, council executive Friday night at Neenah-Menasha. The classes have been held to acquaint potential scout leaders and members of the Appleton and Neenah-Menasha councils with methods of applying the scout program and the correct way of carrying on scout meetings.

An over night camp Saturday will complete the course. Plans of the valley council call for leader training courses at least twice each year. Attendance at six indoor meetings or four indoor meetings and the over night camp is required before a person may receive a certificate awarded for the work.

Persons attending the meeting Friday night at St. Thomas parish hall viewed one of the finest scout troops in the valley. The first maneuver of the meeting saw the members of St. Thomas troop pass inspection in a manner that would do credit to a military company.

Following inspection the troop adjourned to their meeting rooms where they put on an investiture ceremony that left a deep impression on the minds of the council members. Two new scouts were taken into the patrol, the investiture ceremony being used for the initiatory degree of tenderfoot scouts.

Discussions and games together with a song period occupied the remainder of the leaders' session and final arrangements for the over night hike were announced. Plans were also discussed for a dinner some night next week at an Appleton hotel at which certificate giving credit for the work would be awarded.

CALL MEETING ON SAFETY CONFERENCE

Two Appleton Men Will Help Arrange Program for Oshkosh Next Summer

Two Appleton men, W. E. Schubert of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company and H. G. Noyes, of the vocational school will meet at the Athearn hotel, Oshkosh, on Monday, Dec. 5, with safety experts from valley manufacturing companies who are planning the fourth annual Fox River valley safety conference in that city next summer. The meeting has been called to get suggestions and ideas for the coming convention.

Among the state industrial leaders expected at the meeting Monday are: M. L. Marshak of the Phoenix Chair company, Sheboygan; E. Ireland of the Kohler company, Kohler, Wis.; J. D. Vits of the Aluminum Goods company, Manitowoc; H. J. Hoyman of the Kimberly Clark Co., Neenah; W. J. Peacock of the Northern Paper company, Green Bay; William Ashe of the Thilmany company, Kaukauna; H. Scott of the Wisconsin Power & Light Co., Madison; C. B. Boudette of the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, Milwaukee; W. E. Schubert of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company, Appleton; J. Mortenson of the Manitowish shipbuilding Co., Manitowish; R. A. McKeown, chief engineer of the industrial commission, Madison; J. Braun and Al Kroes of the Employers Mutual Insurance Co., Wausau, Wis.

The first valley safety conference in 1925 at Green Bay drew an attendance of 600, a year later 800 attended the conference in Appleton, 900 were at Sheboygan in 1927 and over 1,000 are expected at the Oshkosh meeting in June, 1928.

85 BOYS AT WEEKLY SOCIAL AT Y. M. C. A.

Approximately 85 boys of the Y. M. C. A. attended the regular weekly social of the boys' department Friday evening. The boys were divided into four groups and each group was given 15 minutes to plan a stunt. The entire group voted on the best stunt. A candy scramble and corn pop followed the stunts, during which a ghost story was told by John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. The social was in charge of Irving Buck, assistant boys' work secretary, and Robert Neller, department mayor.

BOARD OF HEALTH MAN RECOMMENDS NEW SEWER ROUTE

Would Run Sewage of Loev
Plat Through Country Club
Grounds and Save

Two recommendations on the city sewerage system will be made by O. J. Muegge, Madison, connected with the state board of health, following conferences with city officials this week. Following Mr. Muegge's recommendations which will be returned as suggestions of the state board of health in the matter, the projects will be put to the city council for approval and action.

Mr. Muegge has recommended that if a sewer system is demanded for Loev plat west of S. Cherry-st, it be run through the grounds of Riverview country club and into the river rather than on Seymour-st to S. Oneida-st and then into the government canal near the S. Oneida-st bridge. The cost of the recommended system is about $7,000 compared with $21,000 if the Seymour-st route is used. The new outlet in the river will be below water department intakes.

It also will be recommended that the city start construction of an intersecting sewer, from the present Manson-st outlet to the Jackman-st outlets. This will keep sewerage out of the river above the water department intakes.

A third recommendation is that Appleton start construction of separate storm and sanitary sewers, appropriating several thousand dollars each year for the work. This recommendation

TO SEEK BIDS FOR NEW FREIGHT HOUSE

Bids for the construction of a new freight station by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at N. Superior and W. Franklin-sts, will be sought soon and local contractors will have an opportunity to bid for the construction work.

The building is to be constructed of brick and concrete and will be 40 feet wide and 220 feet long. Offices will occupy the front of the building facing N. Superior and W. Franklins and will be 40 feet wide and 60 feet long and two stories high, with a basement.

CAPITOL EMPLOYEES WILL BE PAID EARLY

Madison—(P)—Pay day at the state capitol this month will be Dec. 7, instead of Jan. 1. With its annual Christmas-time munificence, the State of Wisconsin will pay its employees two weeks early, so they will be provided with funds to do their holiday shopping.

One hardened watch-dog of the treasury held out for the 26th as the earliest date on which salaries should be paid, but was greeted with vigorous protest from those who planned to shop during the Saturday half-holiday on the 17th.

One employee opines that it will be "a long, hard day between paydays," with the one usually due on Jan. 1 moved up two weeks.

tion recalls the opinion of the state health department that the time is not far distant when the city will not be permitted to dump sewage in the river and that it will have to build a sewage disposal plant.

GRANGERS TO HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

Beloit Will Be Host to State
Gathering for Three Days
Next Week

Beloit—(P)—Wisconsin agricultural interests will center in Beloit when the Wisconsin State Grange opens its 56th annual session here Dec. 6, 7, and 8. Representatives of the national Grange organization as well as several hundred Wisconsin farmers will attend the three-day meet.

Roll call of officers, appointment of committees, introduction of resolutions, official reports and the annual address by the State Master of the Grange will occupy the first day of organization business.

The Grangers will be officially welcomed to the city Dec. 6 at a public meeting, by W. K. Magill, mayor of Beloit. Stephen Bolles, editor of the Janesville Gazette, will deliver an address of welcome on behalf of county agricultural interests. Response for the Grange will be made by state Grand Master Elmer Neenan. An address by a representative of the National Grange will complete the program for the first day.

The second day of the session will be given to business sessions. Lomona and subordinate master's report will supplement the introduction of resolutions in the morning session. A memorial service and the 1927 report by the business agent will be given in the afternoon. Conferring of the 5th and 6th degrees and the election of officers for the following two years will occupy the remainder of the day. Unfinished state Grange business

GIVE LICENSES TO 28 NEW PLUMBERS

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin has 28 new plumbers. Ten men passed the examination for master plumbers and licenses have been issued to them and to eighteen men who are now journeyman plumbers.

The examinations were held Nov. 21 in Milwaukee. Four candidates for master's licenses and 19 candidates for journeyman's licenses failed in the tests.

Some of those who were successful: Masters—Hugo M. Falk, Oshkosh; Earl H. Skog, Green Bay; Fred Fredrickson, Racine; Clarence Steltz, E. R. Schultz, A. G. Itabernohl, Milwaukee.

Journeyman—Harry Degenford, Janesville; D. F. Folgate, Cudahy; Arthur Platz, C. J. Jendryczak, George C. Mulzoff, Frank Bauman, Erwin Trapp, Ernest Bushek, A. E. Manson, W. E. Popp, W. A. Wille, John C. McCurdy, E. F. Reinhardt, Milwaukee.

STREET EMPLOYEES READY FOR WINTER

Street department employees have completed nearly all work to be done before winter and are now looking around for odd jobs that have not as yet received consideration. All the major projects of grading, cleaning catch basins and the like have been completed. One or two projects which were originally laid over until next spring may be aired with the hope that snow will hold off until they can be completed.

will be cleared the last day of the session and the installation of officers will adjourn the meeting.

QUARTET AND BAND FOR NEXT CONCERT

The Nixon male quartet, known as one of the best male quartets in Wisconsin, will feature the regular December concert of the 120th Field Artillery band Tuesday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Members of the quartet are George Nixon, Appleton, first tenor; Carl McKee, Appleton, second tenor; Fred Nixon, Neenah, first base; and William Johnson, Appleton, second tenor. The first two members are well known in Appleton and vicinity for their solo work and for leaders of community singing. Besides the quartet numbers, a program of six or seven instrumental selections by the band is being arranged by Edward F. Mumm, its conductor. Several of the selections which won favorable comment for the organization at its program at Antigo last week will be played.

DEER CREEK FARM TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Sheriff Otto Zuehlke will sell a farm in the town of Deer Creek at public auction, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, Dec. 14, to satisfy a mortgage foreclosure judgment against the property. The judgment was given on Oct. 28, 1926 to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hyde, represented by the First Trust company of Oshkosh. Mr. and Mrs. John Nesbitt and Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Link own the land.

You'll love the beautiful star as the heroine of this truly fascinating romance.

What do you know about Appleton?

Appleton's development has been more than satisfactory in that the many derogatory features of industrial and civic expansion have been eliminated. Industry has expanded sanely and a select class of working people have helped the city evade labor troubles. Appleton has never had a boom—neither has it ever had a bread line.

Beautiful Appleton—Nestling along the curving banks of the Fox river Appleton is so situated that it is one of the most beautiful cities in the country. Spread out as they are, its many manufacturing plants have not become a blot on an otherwise beautiful landscape nor have they desecrated the beauty of any particular section of the city.

Appleton residential districts with their multitude of beautiful homes and tree lined streets make an environment few cities can boast of. Homes have been erected to be an eye's delight—they are more than just a place to live.

Appleton parks are the most picturesque in the country, nearly all of them being built in natural ravines so that the original beauties of nature have been retained. The grounds of Lawrence college which might also be classed under parks, are a rare bit of beauty and at all seasons of the year make a sight long to be remembered.

Industrial Appleton—Appleton is known as the great paper manufacturing center of the mid-West. And while it is true the city's major industry is papermaking, Appleton has several other manufactories that command national attention. The city boasts a paper converting and printing company that is known all over the world; car mover manufacturing companies that make it the car mover center of the world; has toy manufacturing companies well known to the toy market; machine shops upon which the paper industry strongly relies; wire works that have an international reputation and a hair pin manufacturing company whose product is internationally known.

In speaking of industrial Appleton one must necessarily mention Appleton's employed people.

There is to be found here a most select class of these peoples. Nothing bears out this fact any more than the knowledge that the labor turnover in Appleton is probably the lowest of any city of like size in the country. The fact that a great number of workmen have been at their jobs for over fifteen and upward to twenty-five years is indicative of this condition.

Educational Appleton—Educational institutions are one of the greatest advantages a city can have. And in this respect Appleton is fortunate in having a complete and varied group.

Lawrence college with its 1100 students is the highest school of learning in the city. The college offers either a preparatory course for profession or a course to a liberal arts degree. In connection with the college is the Conservatory of Music, an institution offering courses of the highest artistic nature.

Appleton's junior high schools which have been recently constructed are offering to the pre-high school student the latest features of secondary education. The high school also rates very high among the state schools both scholastically and in athletics.

Those who do not care to complete a high school course or who cannot afford it have not been neglected. The Appleton Vocational school offering part time education and a chance to learn many of the trades has a national reputation. Persons desiring extra training and who cannot attend the regular day school are given special evening classes.

Geographical Appleton—Situated on "Wisconsin's Main Street," Appleton is a natural metropolis for a territory of over 30 miles in diameter. All the main highways lead to the city as does the main water power route of the section.

Three railroads pass through Appleton and give ready access to the outlying sections, while half a dozen bus lines use the city as a terminal or stopping point.

Ask Me Another---

Some things you may not know about Appleton.

What city has 23 churches one of which is but a year old and cost over $250,000 and another which is just nearing completion?

What city boasts 3,400 home owners and new homes being built at the rate of 200 a year?

What city has 23 miles of paved streets and plans to complete 3 miles in the next year?

What city has 150 acres of public parks?

What city has 62.09 miles of water mains, a municipal pumping station with a capacity of over 10,000,000 gallons a day and has just completed a new addition to the station?

What city has 67 manufacturing establishments and nine jobbing and wholesale houses?

What city has the second best and one of the largest Y. M. C. A. buildings in the state?

What city has one of the largest colleges in the mid-West and one of the most prominent conservatories of music in the country?

What city has two libraries with more than 55,000 volumes?

What city has 12 public schools, 5 parochial schools and one of the best business colleges in the state?

What city's manufacturing plants give employment to more than 3,000 persons?

What city has over 5,500 telephones over which 40,000 calls are made daily?

What city has 220 retail establishments with an immediate buying public of over 75,000 people?

What city has one of the most beautiful auditoriums in the state seating 1,600 people?

What city has paper mills which produce over 17 million dollars worth of paper a year?

What city has a birth record of 19.5 per thousand and a death rate of only 12.5 per thousand?

What city has four banks with deposits of nearly 12 million dollars and annual clearings of approximately 52 million dollars?

AMERICANS URGED TO HOLD TOGETHER AGAINST RADICALISM

Boston Man Points Out Subversive Movements in Address in College Chapel

Americans of all creeds and racial ancestry were urged to stand together against subversive movements in America by Peter J. Collins, Boston, in an address in Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday night under auspices of Appleton council of Knights of Columbus. The speaker was presented by Thomas H. Ryan, former municipal judge. Mr. Collins' lecture was entitled Subversive Movements in America.

In the course of his address Mr. Collins stated as a result of his experience in over five thousand American communities; in every State in the United States, the outstanding dangers to America at the present time. He emphasized the danger of communism, intolerance, irreverence, and other destructive doctrines and subversive movements. He cited the world menace of Communism in Russia, China, Nicaragua, and especially Mexico under Calles, and the menacing effects to the future of the United States in the destruction of the guarantee of life and liberty under Mexican communism. Mr. Collins declared that communism is a dictatorship that denies the sacred rights of humanity, prohibits liberty, freedom, protection of life and the pursuit of happiness and scorns and rejects the God-given guarantees upon which civilization rests.

NEVER ADOPTED

In an analysis of the so-called constitution, Mr. Collins showed how this constitution carried into effect the doctrine of Communism and liquidated the five great kinds of freedom: freedom of person, freedom of trial, freedom of worship, freedom of speech, press and petition, and freedom of property. He quoted article after article in the Mexican Constitution to prove his point. He explained that the Constitution of Mexico was never adopted by the states of the Mexican Republic nor approved by the Mexican people, but was put into effect by Calles in 1917 at the point of the gun. When the world was at war and when Calles was directing the anti-American forces in Mexico.

Mr. Collins declared that there was only one other document in all the world like the Mexican constitution, and that is the constitution of Communist Russia. He said both came from the same source, from the fountain of communism, the communist manifesto of Marx, founder of communism. He showed, from the manifesto of Marx, how both Russia and Mexico had put into their constitutions, the three principal doctrines of communism—the abolition of religion, which Marx declared the opium of the people; the abolition of private property; and the abolition of the family and marriage. Today in Russia and Mexico, he declared, religion is abolished, the family and marriage are degraded, and ownership of private property is denied.

SEPARATE LANGUAGE

Communism, he declared, has a language distinctly its own, a language of two separate and complete branches. First, it has the language of the university, the school room and the college, under which it hides from the ear and the mind of the average man, and the language of the language of working man, a doctrine which he does not understand. On the other hand, communism has the language of the street, the street corner where bitterness, hatred and illegitimate discontent are injected into the heart of the workingman in order to use the working class as a lever for the communist revolt.

Mr. Collins cited the world wide propaganda of communism in the Sacco-Vanzetti case as an example of the effectiveness of its organization and the perniciousness of subversive propaganda. Mr. Collins emphasized communism as one of the most dangerous subversive movements threatening destruction of our civilization. He said the Communist doctrine is synonymous with Atheism, inasmuch as it had as its background the "materialistic conception of history."

The speaker then went on to show that although Communism claimed that it came from the masses, this claim is false because the common people have an inherent love of God which is instinctive in them. He referred to the leaders of Communism in Russia from Stalin to Trotsky and said that not one of these leaders had come from the working classes.

In the course of his lecture, Mr. Collins called attention to the rampant propaganda today in many colleges and universities in America. He quoted questionnaires of some professors given to girl students to answer in regard to marriage and the family, and said these questionnaires were a serious menace to the character and morals of millions of American boys and girls. He emphasized the needs of morality and character building in education.

Mr. Collins declared that today there was a serious disregard of the principles and guarantees upon which our government rests. He said that much of this was due to the work of subversive movements. He said the lasting and bombing of the Constitution must stop and called on all Americans, worthy of the name to cooperate in stopping it.

Mr. Collins explained the great guarantees of the constitution and the all of rights. He quoted in detail from the articles and preamble of the constitution and said that "with the holy Bible, the constitution ought to become the fire-side companion of every American family, to know, to love,

GRAVEURE HAS WON INTERNATIONAL FAME

World Famous Baritone Will Sing Concert in Chapel Here Next Wednesday

Louis Graveure, internationally famous baritone, will sing Wednesday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel. His varied and interesting programs are always anticipated by new audiences and by the ones who return to hear him.

In April, 1922, Mr. Graveure sang his first recital in Berlin. His sweeping and sensational success was evident. Within a month he gave four sold out recitals, repeating the triumph in Dresden, Munich and Vienna. In Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Hungary and Rumania, sentiment was glowing expressed in lengthy eulogies of the press and tended to establish Mr. Graveure as Europe's favorite lieder singer.

In the United States and Canada Mr. Graveure's long string of successes continue and he will sing over 50 recitals this season before returning to Europe in March. His tour opened in California in October and will visit every section of the country.

Mr. Graveure has an equally famous reputation as a pedagogue. His summer master classes, in singing, are always crowded. He advises students not to try to figure every problem mathematically. Many singers spoil their work by thinking too much and by concentrating too steadily on technique, in the opinion of Mr. Graveure.

World War Movies

The Gift Ideal—

A Parent to an Ex-Service Son
A Wife to an Ex-Service Husband
A Sister to an Ex-Service Brother
YOU to an Ex-Service Friend or to any owner of a 16 mm. projector.

GENERAL PERSHING SAYS:

"—the best pictorial record of the war I have seen."

Bought by thousands! Acclaimed by millions! All America is talking about these sensational films.

THESE official U. S. Government World War Movies now released for home projection occupy a place in public interest never equalled by anything in the history of home motion pictures.

Every ex-service man, whether or not he has a projector, would be proud to possess official pictures of America's greatest adventure, the first important war ever filmed. Every owner of a projector, whether or not he was in the war, would welcome such a wonderful addition to his collection of home movies.

GIVE WAR MOVIES FOR CHRISTMAS

The entire picture (2000 feet of Eastman 16 mm. film), taking one hour and twenty minutes to show, is now available in a special de luxe edition for $150.

For those who want special sections of the picture, five Kodak Cinegraphs costing $15 each (which may be purchased separately) are available on the following subjects: "Chateau-Thierry and the Alsne-Marne Operation," "The St. Mihiel Drive," "The Meuse-Argonne Offensive," "Plashes of Action," "Our Navy in the World War."

Words simply cannot describe these pictures. You must see them to appreciate them—to understand their tremendous scope—to realize what an ideal gift they would be for an ex-soldier.

They will become priceless "heirlooms" to be passed on in any family—increasing in value as the years go by.

Come in today and see the War Movies. And let us tell you about the $60 Kodascope Projector for showing these and other interesting Cinegraphs.

TOWNSESLER'S TEAM WINS
SCHOOL CAGE TITLE

Defeats Miller's Marvels by 7 to 4 Score in Tight Tournament Game

Kaukauna-Esler's Elephants won the all-school basketball tournament by defeating Miller's Marvels, 7 to 4, in a closely played game in the final round Friday afternoon. Esler scored most of the points for his team. While Miller started for the losers. Third place went to Bill's Boys when the quint managed to nose out Farwell's Peewees by a 6 to 5 score earlier in the afternoon. Solberg and Darius were the shining lights for the winners while Farwell did all the scoring for the losers. Jack's Follows won the consolation round from Sager's Sharks by 12 to 0 score.

Cochran's team was satisfied with the tournament. The purpose was to get a line on the basketball material for this winter's heavy schedule of fourteen games. Eleven of which are played in the Northwestern Wisconsin interscholastic conference. The vets from last year's squad are Willis Miller, Karl Farwell, Harvey Doering, Richard Ferguson, Ralph Sager, Myron Esler and Marvin Miller. Marvin Miller, Willis Miller and Myron Esler are really the only players who saw much play last winter. This means that the new coach will have to develop a new team if he hopes to finish near the top of the conference and present a formidable lineup for the Appleton and West Green Bay games. To add to his hardships Appleton must be played in the first game of the season on Dec. 17 at the high school gymnasium.

Social Items

400 PEOPLE ATTEND
LEGION RADIO SHOW
AT FOREST JUNCTION

Maple Grove Pastor Stresses Need for Preparedness to Prevent War

Special to Post-Crescent
Forest Junction—From three to four hundred persons, including legion members and families from posts throughout Calumet and Manitowish attended the radio carnival given by the Gerard Brooks post of the American legion at the community hall here Thursday evening.

Radio receiving sets, ranging from inexpensive models to the costlier improved cabinet styles, and representing seven different makes, were displayed in a dealers' display which was a prominent feature of the evening. With conditions for accepting favorable, outfits were demonstrated, and ample opportunity was given the crowd for inspection of the display before Don M. Davis, local commander, introduced the speakers.

The Rev. William Grace of Maple Grove, former state chaplain, in an address on Preparedness, voiced a decided aversion to future wars, but urged preparedness as the most effective means to avoid them. The apparently high cost of preparedness, he pointed out, was quite insignificant as compared to the cost of warfare or indemnities in case our nation should suffer defeat. Dr. E. C. Cary of Reedsville, a former vice-commander of the state department, and one of the Wisconsin delegation to the recent convention at Paris, spoke on the experiences of the war and mentioned the care of the French for the American soldiers' graves.

The carnival was the first event of a program of activities planned by the local post for the coming year. Mrs. Robert Heiner of New Holstein, who supervises the organization of auxiliaries over the sixth district of the state department was present at the gathering.

The local post has received an invitation to attend the speech conference, and lunch for Calumet and Manitowish posts at Manitowish Monday evening. State Commander Frank J. Schneider will be the speaker.

A basketball game will be played at the community hall here on Tuesday evening in which the local Pavilion Clippers will meet a Maribel team. The return game is scheduled to be played at Maribel next Friday evening.

Routine claims against the town of Brillion will be disposed of next Tuesday when the town board of auditors meets at the town hall here for the annual December session. A claim for refund of taxes on capital stock sold under protest by the Forest Junction State bank is among those to be settled.

CANNING FACTORIES BUY
LARGE NUMBER OF CATTLE

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—Edmund Bonk, superintendent of the Chilton Canning Co., purchased 127 head of Hereford cattle at the Omaha Stockyards. The cattle will be kept on the farms of the canning company and fattened for the spring market. A. T. Hipse, superintendent of the New Holstein canning company, purchased an equal number of the same cattle at Omaha and will feed them for early spring marketing.

William Aehlscher returned this week from Minneapolis where he purchased 25 head of Durban two year old heifers which he will fatten during the winter months on his Charles town farm.

The Royal Arch degree was conferred Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple on Carl S. Barnard, Emil Eicher of Brillion and Elmer C. Beck of Brookstown.

County Judge H. F. Arps spoke to the high school students Thursday. This was the fifth in the series of addresses being delivered to the high school by the business and professional men of Chilton. The judge explained the inside workings of the county judge's office and showed the many points of contact that the office of county judge has with the people of the county.

A dinner was served Tuesday evening at the high school to the teachers and the members of the Board of Education for the freshmen girls, under the direction of Miss Caroline Marken of the home economics department.

Donald and Mrs. G. J. Hogue, who were to attend the funeral of Frank Feldkamp, returned to their home in Milwaukee on Wednesday. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George G. Hogue, who will make an extended visit at the Hogue home.

H. W. Windel, board executive of the Kaukauna council, Bay View of Kaukauna, spoke to the high school Friday afternoon. The last report of the organization to date is now a working force in 10 months. Their organization was the first to take part in the annual of the people of St. Louis during the recent epidemic. A vigorous attempt will be made to increase the membership of this organization in Calumet, Manitowish and Manitowish during the coming year.

Republicans Predict No Trouble
In Organizing The New Congress

Washington—(AP)—While realizing that many trials and tribulations will be met in the seventeenth congress, republican leaders anticipate little if any difficulty in organizing the house and the senate.

In the house the republicans have a comfortable majority, with no indication that the independents or insurgents in their ranks are at all inclined to upset the orderly program as they were able to do four years ago.

The republicans in the senate have a paper majority of only one, with a well organized independent group within their fold, but there is no disposition on the part of the democrats to undertake a seizure of the reins in this pre-presidential campaign session.

Nicholas Longworth of Ohio again will be elected speaker of the house and will carry into office with him those who directed the destinies of the party in that body during the last session.

George Moses of New Hampshire is expected to succeed himself as president pro tempore of the senate, with all other republican officers likewise re-elected, through the aid, if necessary, of a vote by Vice President Dawes, the constitutional presiding officer.

Once the formalities of organization are out of the way, the senate republican unit will come to an end. There will be wide gulfs on practically all of the major issues which will come before the two houses and on which a part of the record for the 1928 presidential contest will be written.

While the republican majority in the house is sufficient to insure speedy and favorable action on administration measures there, it is so slim in the senate that extremely rough sledding will be provided for practically every proposal bearing the administration imprimatur.

The newly organized group of western republican independents holds the balance of power in the senate, by virtue of the almost even division between the two major parties, and it is prepared to wield that balance in its efforts to obtain legislation of peculiar interest to its section.

When this same situation obtained in the senate four years ago, the independents almost invariably voted with the solid democratic group to bring about the defeat of many measures and to put under way several investigations which the old guard leaders opposed.

Should the independents side with neither republicans nor democrats, the latter with their ranks holding intact would be able to put through their own legislative program.

Democratic leaders assert emphatically that they will undertake to make no alliance with the independents, a thing they were accused of doing four years ago, and the independents under leadership of Senator Norris of Nebraska and Borah of Idaho contemplate no move looking to any such alliance.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT IS IMPROVING AT HOSPITAL

Special to Post-Crescent
Oncida—Mrs. Kaiser Wheelock, who suffered a broken hip in an auto accident last week near Kaukauna, is reported to be improving although it will be two months before she will be able to leave the hospital. She is confined to the St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton. Mrs. Wheelock with her husband and family were on their way to Oncida to a wedding dinner when the car they were riding in was struck by a Ford coupe driven by Joe Jacobson of Kaukauna.

The ladies of the Methodist church gave a lunch and entertainment at the Epworth hall Thursday evening.

The Rev. Brandt, newly appointed pastor of the Methodist church, is a resident of Gillet. He will be in charge of the parsonage here in February, but until then he will come every Sunday to take charge of the morning services.

Mrs. Joseph Smith has gone to Milwaukee where she will be employed for the winter.

SURPRISE PARTY HELD AT LITTLE CHUTE HOME

Special to Post-Crescent
Little Chute—Members of the American legion auxiliary will hold their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at Legion hall. It is expected there will be a large attendance as important business will be transacted.

A large number of friends surprised Mrs. William Lenz at her home Wednesday evening. Cards furnished amusement. Those present were Mrs. Gregory Lenz, Mrs. Joseph Hietpos, Mrs. Joseph Lenz, Sr., Mrs. Matthew Ryngaert, Mrs. Joseph Lenz, Jr., Mrs. William Hermanns, Mrs. Peter Van Dornen, Mrs. Henry Bongers, Mrs. Cornelius Van Dyke, Mrs. Roger Van Dinter, Mrs. Henry Jansen, Mrs. Arnold Strick, Mrs. Martin Lammers, Mrs. Joseph Evers, Mrs. Arnold Bongers, Mrs. Mrs. Elmer Van Gompel, Mrs. Albert Van den Boom, Mrs. Nicholas Schommers, Mrs. Joseph Kousness, Mrs. Peter G. Lamers, Mrs. John Jansen, Mrs. Henry M. Goenen, Mrs. Wilhelmina Lenz, Mrs. William Stephen, Mrs. Nicholas Derks, Mrs. Wilhelmina Derks, Mrs. William Homanen, Mrs. Mrs. Joseph Homanen, Mrs. Joseph Van Dyke, Mrs. Martin Lammers, Mrs. Joseph Kousness, Mrs. Elmer Van Gompel and Mrs. Arnold Bongers.

Little Chute had two out of three games from Hendrick Wiersma in the Fox River Valley bowling league at Little Chute Thursday evening. Hendrick won the first leg, leading by a high single score of 245 and a series of 423. Following are the scores:

Hendrick Wiersma
T. Rabe 188 191 143 522
C. Farnsworth 223 178 164 565
A. Wiersma 207 173 262 542

Republicans foresee no difficulty in organizing the seventeenth congress. In the senate they will have, if needed, the vote of Vice President Dawes (upper left) in naming George H. Moses (lower right), president pro tem. The republican progressives, headed by W. E. Borah (lower left), have indicated no intent, however, to balk republican control. Nicholas Longworth (upper right) is destined to become speaker of the house again.

Indian Girl's Riches Bring Misery, Death And Sorrow

Paul's Valley, Okla.—Dora Carlton, descendant of a Choctaw Indian chief, was born to riches.

But the riches have brought her only misery.

Had she been born poor, she could have lived peacefully and happily with her husband and her baby, with never a single mishap to jar the even course of her life.

But the money that was her inheritance prevented all that.

BORN TO SORROW
Today, in her early thirties, she has seen her husband shot to death: her grandfather has been slain, her father has been ambushed and killed, her sister is under arrest for murder and she herself faces life alone and friendless with a small baby.

Here is the story of Dora Carlton and the money that wrecked her happiness:

Dora was born the daughter of Henry Martin, a farmer. Because of her Choctaw blood she inherited a sizable government oil grant.

As she approached her twenties it became evident she would have many suitors.

But Henry Martin frowned on them. He kept her close at home and would allow no one to pay court to her. For if she married, the oil grant would go with her when she left her father's home and this, say neighbors, he determined to prevent.

Just before the war, however, Henry Martin needed a farm hand to help him with the chores. He hired young George Carlton.

George and Dora fell in love. Henry Martin disapproved; but George's help was too valuable to allow Martin to send him away.

FAMILY CAFES OUST
LONDON NIGHT CLUB

London—Mother and father have decided to accompany the children to night dancing places in London. But British parents do not fancy the idea of being "snatched" home by the police at the night club and the advent of his attractive restaurants which have so much better cabarets with lands that the so-called clubs can't compete with them.

The Kit-Cat club in Piccadilly, which was snuffed out by a police raid, has been revived as a family restaurant. Sir Walter Gifford, who owns the building, says the owners of the Kit-Cat have learned their lessons and will carry on the business "according to new light which have come to them."

"People want to see to it a place after the theatre where they can dine and dance in peace and be amused without having the police shut always in hand," said Sir Walter. "There was a time when the risk of a raid on technical grounds in a night club."

BRITAIN BUILDING
TWO HUGE BLIMPS
FOR EMPIRE LINE

Each Dirigible Will Be 730 Feet Long, Cost $8,000,000, Carry 100 Persons

Howden, England—The eyes of the aviation world are turned to this little Yorkshire town where Britain, to unite her far-flung colonies, is completing the two greatest dirigibles ever conceived.

Built at a cost of $8,000,000, these Leviathans of the air will carry 100 passengers, 150 tons of freight, an aerial lounge and a flying ballroom.

Here the new airship R-100, and nearby the R-101, are being rushed to completion. These aerial liners will bring India, Australia, South Africa and eventually Canada within two and three days distance of London.

The specifications of the dirigibles are filled with astounding figures. The airships will be 730 feet long, capable of carrying 100 passengers in the utmost comfort and 150 tons freight. Even a dance floor of unsurpassed quality will be contained within the liners. There will be a dining room for 50 covers and sufficient sleeping accommodations for all on board.

Accommodations on the whole will equal those of a steamship, but the government air engineers point out that a large airship has two advantages over an ocean-going vessel: The airship flies with considerable less rolling and pitching and there is no vibration, since the engines are carried in cars slung away from the main structure.

The airships will have a speed of 70 miles an hour at 5,000 feet, with a cruising speed of 63 miles an hour. At this speed the ships should be able without refueling, experts say, to fly in still air a distance of 4,000 miles with a normal commercial load.

One of the principal tasks in developing the inter-empire airship service, secondary only to the completion of the dirigibles themselves, is the building of mooring masts. The masts at Cardington and Ismailia are ready for the India service and a shed is nearing completion at Karachi.

The masts are of a new and improved design, nearly twice as high as the mast at Pulham, from which the R-38, famous forerunner of the R-100 and R-101, operated. They are designed to resist a pull at the mast head six times greater than that which the Pulham mast can resist.

Powerful and sensitive winches to draw the airships to the mastheads are operated electrically from the top of the mast. Pumps deliver fuel at the rate of 2,000 gallons an hour to the moored airship. A fast elevator is located in the center of the mast structure. Similar masts are being constructed near Durban, South Africa and in Australia.

The return to airships opens up the old conflict between proponents of heavier-than-air craft and advocates of lighter-than-air vessels. The advocates of the airship say that the cost per ton per mile by airship is 15 cents and by airplane 60 cents. They point to the fact that in the early days of flying, between 1910 and 1914, five German airships, constructed for passenger traffic, carried 42,000 passengers in 2,000 flights without mishap to a single passenger.

ASKS UNITED ACTION FOR FARMER OF U. S.

reiterate my opposition to this view. Such a policy would be detrimental to the farmers and in the long run would jeopardize the legitimate functions of government.

WANTS BROAD RULES
"I believe that what is necessary can be obtained by the joint effort of organized farmers, with the government giving such assistance as it may safely give and protecting the public interest by laying down broad rules of policy."

"The best way to visualize the future of agriculture, as of any industry, is to examine and apply the examples of its recent past," Mr. Jardine declared. "If the farmer has tackled his problems sensibly and energetically, with resulting increase of efficiency in both production and marketing, his outlook may fairly be considered good. This he has done in a manner which has no historic parallel. Technical progress in American agriculture has taken place at an extraordinary rate since the close of the world war and in consequence the productivity of the individual farmer has been increased, while at the same time the agricultural industry as a whole, through the shifting of crop enterprises, has been better adapted to its market conditions."

"In the nine years since the world war ended, our agriculture has undergone far-reaching changes that have materially increased the output of both land and labor. This augmented production has been obtained on a decreased acreage and with fewer farm workers. Here is evidence that agriculture has not lacked vigor or resourcefulness in the trying years of the postwar depression. Here also is an augury of its future prosperity. Farm efficiency has been increasing, and efficiency in production coupled with better adjustment of production to market requirements is a corner stone of agricultural prosperity."

BETTER UNDERSTANDING
Discussing proposed national farm legislation of the last few years, Mr. Jardine said many of the proposals made were fundamentally unsound. The study and discussion devoted to the question, however, he felt, had been, on the whole, beneficial.

"The public has gained a better understanding of farm problems, and much helpful legislation has been enacted. A large part of the farm problem—which in fact consists of many problems—must be solved by the individual and cooperative efforts of the farmers themselves. However, there is need for legislation to give further encouragement to large agricultural business organizations owned and controlled by farmers and managed by strong business executives chosen by the producers."

A great deal could be done by the state themselves, said Mr. Jardine, to put agriculture on a stronger economic basis, especially in state and local banking, taxation and public expenditures in their relation to agriculture. The tariff on agricultural products should insure the home market, as far as possible, to the American farmer, he said.

"It should be possible by impartial study of the manner in which tariff duties affect different commodities, to devise means of increasing this benefit," said Mr. Jardine's report. "Trustworthy statistics are not available to show the degree to which the advantages of the tariff to agriculture are offset by disadvantages due to its effect on the commodities that farmers buy. Any discrimination which may exist should be ascertained and corrected. In order to get the best results from the tariff, research should be undertaken to determine precisely what duties should be placed on farm products, article for article, to insure the home market to the American producer. It should be our aim to give agriculture protection against foreign competition in our markets equal to that enjoyed by industry and labor."

"SMALL BACHELOR" A SIDE SPLITTER OPENS AT FISCHER'S
Someone once said that "The bigger they are the harder they fall." The hero—if we should call him that—in the Universal-Jewel three comedy "The Small Bachelor" which opens today at Fischer's Appleton Theatre, is just what the title implies—a small bachelor, but he couldn't have fallen any harder if he had been a sausage.

All of which is preamble to the fact that "The Small Bachelor" is the most rollicking, hilarious farce comedy to be shown here in many a day. The kind of a picture that makes one want to forgive his worst enemy.

Barbara Kent and Andre Berange are featured in the opus which was directed by William A. Seiter. Miss Kent, in case you may have forgotten, is of the crop of 1927 Wampas Baby stars and the other twelve members of this select gathering must look to their laurels if Barbara is given a few more pictures like this one. Berange should need no introduction; he has been in several of the best pictures of the past year.

To tell the story would be to spoil viewing it. Sufficient to say that there is not one dull moment from the time Andre first spies Barbara till the final fadeout.

PROPOSE SUBWAY AT DIVISION-ST CROSSING

Alderman Hassman Believes Street and Railroad Should Be Separated

Though he does not believe the project is needed this year and probably not for another two years, Alderman Wenzel Hassman of the Fifth ward entertains ideas that a viaduct is necessary under the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks either as an outlet for N. Division-st through to Washington-st or in connection with the opening for a street west of N. Division-st from W. Washington to W. Packard-st. A resolution asking consideration of the project was presented to the city council several weeks ago but was laid over for consideration by a committee.

Recently several aldermen, Mayor Tuile and the city engineer viewed the site of the proposed viaduct and talked over the matter with John Hettlinger of the Hettlinger Lumber company.

Alderman Hassman believes there is need for a viaduct at N. Division-st to eliminate the grade crossing and permit traffic from the north side of town to pass below the tracks rather than over them.

In the office she graced than the average stenographer's.

Esther steps behind the footlights and becomes the idol of Broadway in her latest vehicle "The Spotlight" which will be seen at Fischer's Appleton Theatre next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Nell Hamilton heads her supporting cast in this Frank Tuttle production.

Hughes In New Attack On Patriot

Rupert Hughes isn't doing much to help the peace of mind of "Big Bill" Thompson, history-purging mayor.

Hughes, still relentlessly on the trail of our good George Washington, has put out a second volume covering the revolutionary period from 1782 to 1777, "Washington, the Rebel and the Patriot" (Morrow). And herein are more jabs at bright historical illusions, such as Col. Thompson would keep ever shining.

But Hughes dodges all responsibility. History, says he, is what it is and not what you try to make it, and if Mayor Thompson or al, want his sources he will be glad to tell them where they can get more and better. Meanwhile, Hughes adds: "As in my first volume, my incessant endeavor has been to let Washington tell his own story in his own words."

So we find Washington in his thirtieth year, facing a tense and moving drama. At thirty he was a contented farmer, quite disgusted with wars, and he does not rush readily in after the fashion of the reluctantly final comes a rebel most reluctantly, finally being forced to command a bunch of untrained and even unwilling soldiers.

His was not a simple task. He ran into the forces of jealousy and spite and, in spite of opposition from within and without, he won his battle. From the contented farmer of the earlier pages, Washington emerges a truly noble figure and one worthy of all the affection and respect we pay to him in this land—yet for quite totally different reasons. It is a human man Washington we meet: a man who can suffer and be disturbed, who can despair like the rest of us, who can be confused and almost dumfounded—but who can go on and hew his way to victory and rise to the noblest proportion.

Meanwhile Hughes takes us behind some of the revolutionary scenes and tells us variously: that the portrait of Washington crossing the Delaware is too ridiculously untrue for words; that credit for designing the national flag belongs not to Betsy Ross, but to Francis Hopkinson; that Ethan Allen captured Tinocoeroga by getting 26 of the 48 British defenders drunk; that the American patriots did not rise magnificently, as stated in the text-books, but that little civil war went on everywhere; that Patrick Henry never said, "If this be treason make the most of it!" . . . and that a lot of other things did or did not happen.

The early pages of the book are given over to presenting Washington as a planter and farmer. He is shown going to the taverns now and then for a little gaming and his personal account books are opened to show that his gambling losses were not very steep. A few pounds at a sitting was about his limit. He seems also to have had a fond for catching his slaves when they ran away—for slavery was in vogue then and Washington was a slave holder. Hughes avers that Washington advocated the lash for those who were captured—but so did everyone else, for that matter.

We also peep into Martha Washington's boudoir and get a slant on her beauty notions; we get some thrilling pages on spy activities and a great many incidentals of the war. But it is the portrait of Washington that the author is chiefly after and it is an exciting document, even if it does have a few well known whiskers off of the text books.

A few weeks ago Klaus Mann, a youngster not far out of his teens, arrived in New York from Berlin with his sister. They quietly went about getting lecture engagements and meeting newspaper folk and were quoted as being highly interested in what Hollywood was up to.

Within a short time it became known that they would be in great demand as youthful lecturers to German-American organizations.

Then, quite suddenly, New York awakened to the fact that there were the children of one of the greatest living novelists—Thomas Mann, who is head and shoulders above anyone writing in Germany and whose last novel, "The High Mountain," is likely to be included among the contemporary classics.

Klaus, it seems, had written a novel also, and it had been published in America. "The Third Child" it is called, and it is more interesting as the work of a youngster who springs from the genius Thomas Mann than as a novel. It is a good enough book, without being distinguished, following a not unfamiliar theme of love that comes to a despairing woman late in life in the form of a youth many years her junior.

Dusty Answer

By Rosamond Lehman

REVIEW—BY ELEANOR WING

"The kind of a novel that might have been written by Keats if Keats had been a young novelist of today" is rather high praise to come from the pen of the most conservative of all British conservatives—Alfred Noyes. And about a first novel too. But Rosamond Lehman, published this fall by Henry Holt and Company, is the kind of a book which without effort almost, calls forth superlative criticisms. You mention its name in New York, and the instant response from every type of reader who honestly reads is: Oh yes, it's by way of being the book of the year, isn't it? This, in spite of the Atlantic Monthly prize novel, JALNA, and Harper's prize book, GRANDMOTHERS.

One has the unusual feeling after reading DUSTY ANSWER that it is not important to mention plot, characters or incidents, although they are all marvellously put together, but that it is very essential to talk about the way it moves you. English gardens, English emotions, but not too English to be mystifying to Americans. The young thinking generation which is called sophisticated and in reality is only perplexed—the whole panorama stirs you as no book of the moment can possibly do. And, surprisingly enough, the very quotation from which the story takes its name is mature, and erotic as very few germs of stories are:

"Ah, what a dusty answer gets the soul When hot for certainties in this our life!"

George Meredith.

The plot is not unusual. Judith grows up in the midst of a group of very remarkable children who live next door but whose garden is separated from her own by a wall. Consequently, there is more mystery surrounding her neighbor's lives than might be true in the relationships between American families, because in America there would be no wall between the two gardens. The children are separated as they grow up and after the war are reunited. They find many common interests again, but the war has changed the fundamentals and there is more sadness and perplexity than happiness in their grown-up contacts. Death has made a difference, morals are not as easy to classify as they were, emotions are not as stable. The very tremulous picture Miss Lehman draws of these young perplexities gives a better picture of post-war England than many political documents.

Christopher Morley says about DUSTY ANSWER, "the book is divinely young. It has its minor uncertainties, too trifling to specify. But it soars. It rises on clean curves of pain and ecstasy. I earnestly warn anyone against it who is not willing to be profoundly troubled and wrong. Its sharp cruel delicacy of observation tinges the most cryptic nerves." And this is true. You would have to meet Judith's emotional problems. You would hate to have your children meet them. But when you think about them for a little while, you realize that they differ very little from your own. The actual gesture of living is not so hard. But to keep any convictions or any illusions or any belief in Santa Claus is a gigantic task. Judith went to Girton College, Cambridge. Her experiences there are not different from those of the girls who go to Wellesley or Smith. And it would be folly to laugh at those problems after reading DUSTY ANSWER.

This is one book of the year, which should like to keep on our book shelf, along with Walt Whitman's LEAVES OF GRASS, and DUNSANY'S KING OF ELFLAND'S DAUGHTER. Not that these three books are very much alike. But if you are looking for beauty in any and every form, these three will give it. For they contain three kinds of joy, that of rational freedom, of whimsicality, and of perceptive groping among realities to find the ones most worthy. DUSTY ANSWER is the saddest of the three because it has so few conclusions. Dunsany doesn't bother about conclusions. Walt Whitman finds earthiness. But Miss Lehman is dealing with spiritual things and she is wise not to decide anything about them.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—With the opening of the Seventieth Congress almost upon us, it is becoming evident that an important country is about to witness two things: a considerable amount of good, hard work and a tangled succession of gorgeous political scraps and deals.

There is a lot of work waiting for this Congress. There is also a presidential campaign ready to dawn. The combination insures a very busy winter for the assembled statesmen. First on the program comes the senatorial decision on the fight which William S. Vare and Frank Smith are making for admittance to the Senate. This fight, which will be bitter, probably will be brief. It looks as if the two will be excluded, but no one is advised to make any heavy bets.

FACE A HEAVY PROGRAM With this matter disposed of, the Senate and the House face a heavy program, on which the problem of flood relief has a leading position.

The House doubtless will tackle this measure first. The plan of the army engineers for a "levees only" system of curbing the Mississippi probably will be adopted as a sort of stop-gap measure, with a special commission possibly being appointed to draw up a more comprehensive solution. There are so many schools of thought on the flood relief question that it is impossible to predict accurately just what will happen; but the problem is so pressing, and of such vital concern to so large a section of the country, that something undoubtedly will be done.

Next comes tax reduction, and here too something unquestionably will be done. With a presidential campaign only a few months away the senators and representatives will be straining at the leash to slash the tax bill, and it seems safe to say that automobile and "amusement" taxes will go by the board, with a total reduction of something like $300,000,000 being voted. The federal inheritance tax will cause a sharp fight, but probably will be retained.

With tax reduction out of the way, farm relief will be next in order. Here the political aspect of the situation is so clouded that nothing definite can be predicted. It may be that the approaching campaign will lead to enough compromises in both houses to put through a bill fairly satisfactory to the farmers. Whether such a bill would get by the president without being vetoed, however, and whether, if it were vetoed, Congress could muster enough votes to make it a law anyhow, are other matters.

President Coolidge is expected to press for some kind of farm relief; and it may be that his enemies in Congress would rather see no farm relief at all than let him get the credit for it. The situation is so tangled and uncertain that the whole thing may end up in a deadlock.

The Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam bills will come up again. Power interests are fighting these bills hard, and each has strong support; what may happen is impossible to foresee.

Another good fight will come when the naval appropriations bill comes up. The outcome of the Geneva conference has given an impetus to the big navy movement, and while there will be strong opposition it looks as if money for eight new cruisers would be voted.

Confirmation of certain presidential appointments is considered doubtful, especially that of Eugene Meyer as chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board. An alien property bill probably will be pushed through, and there will be any number of minor measures passed.

That, then, is the program. But any consideration of it which leaves out the fact that a presidential campaign is soon to begin is futile.

For example, practically every major measure that comes up will be highly important to the political fortunes of one or another of the candidates for the presidency. Flood relief, for instance, is more or less tied up with Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover; and it is obvious that some of Hoover's enemies will fight bitterly to prevent any kind of a bill that would add any lustre to his reputation.

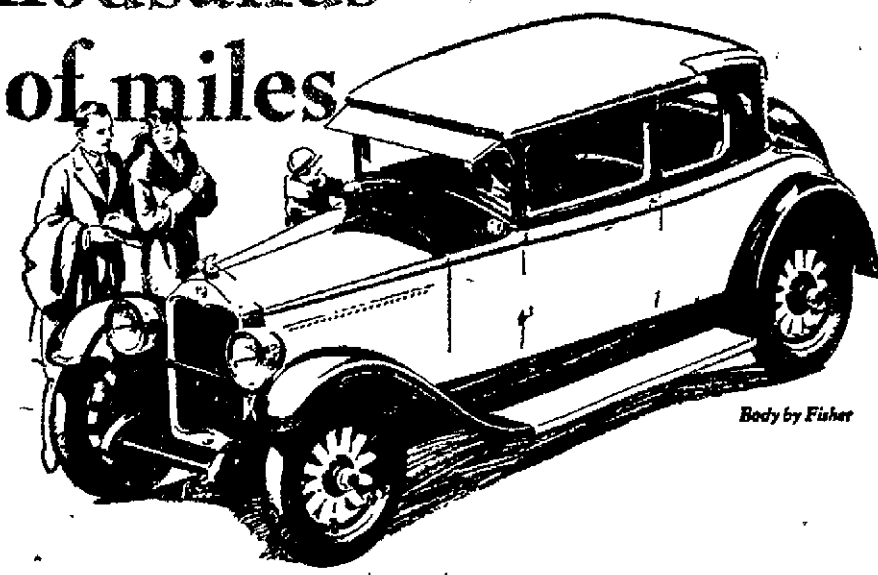

It is the same way with tax reduction. Farm relief is in a similar situation, and, as was pointed out above, a desire to embarrass President Coolidge as a potential candidate may raise hob with the farm bloc's bill.

THIRD TERM QUESTION In addition, there is the question of the anti-third term resolution which certain senators have been discussing. It seems probable that the Senate will be more or less an anti-administration organization, with the "progressives" wielding the balance of power; and it is probable that it will find a number of ways to harass the chief executive. LaFollette is expected to introduce his resolution protesting against a presidency that lasts more than eight years, and this resolution may pass.

All in all, Congress will have a session. It will be a stormy, colorful session: a good deal of work will get done because a presidential campaign is approaching, and a good deal more will not get done for the same reason; and the whole thing will doubtless be highly interesting and instructive to watch.

ELECTRIC CLOCK IS LATEST DEVICE FOR MAINTAINING TIME
New Invention Is Accurate and Will Operate for Years
at a Low Cost

The next time you visit the sales rooms of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company at 112 E. College-ave notice the clock which stands on the top of display shelves along the east wall of the room. It is a Revere television clock, operated by electricity and guaranteed to keep absolutely accurate time. Once the clock has been started it will go on for years at a strikingly low cost as long as electricity is being furnished by the local power station.

The Revere television clock which has been installed on practically all of the power company's local properties and is for sale either at their sales rooms or can be bought by local jewelers for you, is an electric clock built on an entirely new principle, operating directly from the light socket off alternating current of correct average frequency.

Its development has been due to the invention of the simple little television motor, which has made possible the utilization of lighting current for timekeeping. The speed of Revere television depends upon the number of alterations of the current per second—these alterations or impulses are regulated through the Appleton station of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company, by constant controlling of the turbine and producing a definite number of revolutions per minute.

Through suitable gearings these speeds are made to revolve uniformly with the hands of the clock, and are under constant check with an extremely accurate and reliable master clock. Therefore, all Revere televisions in the territories covered by that station must keep exactly the same, because each impulse which starts from the power station, reaches every part of the entire distribution area.

The lighting circuit operates the synchronous motor in the Revere television which is probably the smallest single phase synchronous motor ever made for practical power application, consuming four watts of current and has a marked reserve power. Any number of these on the system will run at the same speed as the one in the master clock. Its use shows a marked absence of the cumbersome trains of wheels, springs and levers ordinarily found in clocks and does not act as secondary or winding unit to the now present clock mechanism, but is directly behind the center shaft of all Revere television clocks.

A group of Revere television clocks will be on display at the traction company salesrooms, 112 E. College-ave over the weekend.

CHRISTMAS PHOTOS
AN IDEA FOR THOSE WHO ARE IN DOUBT

Local Photographer Says Dozen Pictures Will Prove an Economical Gift

Twelve pictures make 12 excellent Christmas gifts.
Such is the opinion of Ed Harwood of the Harwood Studios at 106 W.
College-ave, and as the shopping days before Christmas dwindle and therefore the days for making pictures, the Appleton people are advised to get their pictures made for sittings at the Appleton studios as early as possible. The big Christmas rush will begin within a few days and then it may be harder to arrange for convenient sittings.

Pictures prove an ideal Christmas gift for several reasons. They are not expensive, they may be given to mother, brother, sister, or sweetheart, and they are always heartily appreciated.
As a matter of fact a dozen pictures solves the Christmas gift problem in less than an hour.

There are other reasons why pictures are appreciated. Often a son or daughter cannot be home for the holidays and probably has not been home in several years. Like most people they have not had pictures taken in a number of years; father and mother recall them as they were on the last visit, and times makes numerous changes. Pictures are the next thing to being home to surprise the old folks and everyone knows how well visits are appreciated.

And as for the old folks, there is no reason they should not have pictures taken, mother and dad together for instance, and send one to the children. Turn about is fair play according to an old saying.

If Santa Claus were to offer a suggestion about photographers there is little doubt but what he would add a good word for the Harwood Studios.
There you get service and quality of the highest order and pictures when they are promised. A force of expert photographers who attend to your every need at this studio, do all their own work and thereby assure prompt delivery. The Harwood Studio can make any style and size picture—a picture to suit your pocket book.

Babson Expects Splendid Holiday Trade This Year

Babson Park, Massachusetts—Roger W. Babson in his exclusive interview for this paper, discusses the retail trade situation. Mr. Babson is optimistic on the Christmas trade and believes that it may exceed all previous years. His official statement is as follows:

Next to the farmer, the merchant is the most useful member of the industrial organism. I make this restriction as, of course, teachers and preachers are even more useful than farmers.
Surely retailers are far more important than bankers, manufacturers, wholesalers, or even wage workers.
This is due to the fact that it is easier to manufacture goods than it is to sell goods. This is proved by the fact that it is costing more to sell goods than to manufacture goods. It is easy enough to increase production as fast as sales increase, but it is often difficult to sell goods as fast as they are produced. All this means that the retailer has his hand on the throttle of prosperity and to a very large extent controls the output of factories and the employment of men and women. I wish to especially emphasize this statement because so many look upon retailers as 'non-producers' or middlemen who perform no economic service. Statistics clearly indicate that the retailers of the country perform great economic services.

"Few realize the great army of retailers who are devoting their lives to supply banks with deposits, to keep the mills and factories operating, and to supply employment to labor. More over, these 2,000,000 retailers directly employ some 3,000,000 clerks, which means that about 10,000,000 people in this country are directly engaged in the distribution of goods. When one adds to these figures, those that are indirectly connected with merchandising from the brakeman on the freight train transporting the goods to the compositor in the newspaper office setting up the department store advertisement, these figures could be easily doubled if not tripled. Hence, the retail situation is not only a barometer of business condition, but it has much to do with determining business conditions. From this point of view, the following facts are of interest in forecasting what business will be in 1928.

TRADE VERY GOOD
"It is very encouraging to note the large number of cities in which retail trade is now profitable. I have been analyzing reports on the retail situation, sent me by the Chambers of Commerce of ninety-seven representative cities, and I find that of this number,
forty-six show retail trade conditions
as good, forty-five as fair, and only one six indicate the retail business as being poor at this time. Many of these cities reporting conditions as being good, also show that retail trade is on the increase with a promising outlook for the future. This in a way, is only natural, as a great increase in population will necessitate an increase in retail trade also. It is certainly a fact, that with conditions as at present, any retailer who knows business should be making good money and when one is making money is the time to save money."

"I believe that at the present time the best retail trade conditions are found in Rhode Island, Illinois, Georgia, Alabama, and Oklahoma. These, however, are not the only sections of the country favorable to retail trade, but I consider them to be the best districts. Spartanburg (South Carolina) shows up well at this time and the outlook for this city during the next few months is also quite promising.
Austin (Texas) is now witnessing the best retail trade conditions seen in three years, while conditions in Oklahoma City (Oklahoma) are excellent at this time. There are also many other cities in which retailers are doing a thriving business and, on the whole,
I believe this good business will last throughout the winter, if not for a longer period of time.

CHANCES FOR SALESMEN
"The travelling salesmen have opportunities in practically every section of the country at the present time. My study shows that out of the entire list of cities reporting on the situation, only one advises that travelling salesmen should not stop there. Of course, this does not mean that every section is a market for the many lines of goods sold by the retailer; but it does indicate that practically every section has a better market now than has been seen for some time. Almost all sections report that there are opportunities for the travelling salesmen, the only restriction being the limitation to certain lines. Among the most promising cities I would mention, Hartford, (Connecticut), Cleveland and Cincinnati (Ohio), Wilmington (Delaware), Charlotte (North Carolina), Atlanta
and Augusta (Georgia), Chattanooga, (Tennessee), South Bend (Indiana), Beaumont (Texas), Lincoln (Nebraska), and San Francisco (California). Now is the time for the travelling salesmen to push their sales in every section; using their lines. With all these cities recommending that salesmen stop off, there certainly must be some market for their goods.
"Many salesmen have undoubtedly witnessed a general upward tendency in their sales during the past year or two. This increase, found in many lines in which installment buying is thriving, indicates the effect of installment buying on retail trade. With installment buying continuing at a high level, there is another good reason why the travelling salesmen should find so many cities offering opportunities. I firmly believe that there are now great opportunities for the travelling salesman who knows his goods and is willing to work hard.

MERCHANDISING INVENTIONS
"Although the retailer is a most useful member of society, it nevertheless is true, that he has been very loath to adopt modern methods. It has only been within the past few years that there has been any marked improvement in retailing. The chain store is a progressive step; mail order houses are adopting up-to-date means; while self-service stores are blazing the trail for new developments. Personally, I feel that automatic vending machines have a great future and may some day be used for many more things than the sale of gum, candy, etc.
None of these things, however, are comparable with great changes which are coming in the future. Some day something revolutionary will be devised, which will be to distribution what steam was to locomotion and electricity has been to light. Because no such revolutionary thing has yet been discovered is no reason why it will not come. Who, twenty years ago, who have thought radio broadcasting would ever become possible? Some time in the future the cost of distribution will be cut as radically as has the cost of production in the past.

"Any cut in the cost of distribution materially helps everyone. Manufacturers, bankers, jobbers and wage workers, all benefit from any improvement in distribution. When a newspaper increases its circulation or by new presses, reduces the cost of advertising per subscription, it is rendering a real service in the field of distribution. As people learn to buy in quantities they render a service.
There are hundreds of ways, all of which benefit business. Speaking of business, it still rests around normal, the Babsonchart now registering 1 per cent above. We should have a good Christmas and in some sections of the country it should be distinctly better than in 1926."

WALTZ RULES GERMANY, DANCE MASTERS CLAIM

Berlin (AP)—The winter season's new dance is the waltz, according to the decree of the Union of German Dancing Masters.

Other dances still remain on the repertoire, but the waltz is the thing, topping the Tango, the Black Bottom and a less violent Charleston, the Yale and the Heebie-Jeebies.

At the annual congress of the Dancing Masters the "Modern Waltz" won the applause of thousands. It has less "turns" and more "walking" than its classical predecessor. The slow, tulling rhythm remains, but the dancer is no longer in danger of becoming dizzy.

Now it's up to the orchestra to play in the correct tempo and to the dancing public not to dance the Black Bottom or Tango to waltz music. Otherwise the dancing masters threaten to hang placards: "Dance to the music being played, please" as a protest.

SHOULD USE CARE IN WELL DRILLING TO GET PURE WATER

Kaukauna Contractor Says Steel Casings Insure Against Impurities

"It is our purpose to render the very best service obtainable in our line of business," says Louis Faust of J. J. Faust and Sons, well drillers, Kaukauna. "To this end we have shaped our organization and employ the most up-to-date machinery and tools available and use the best materials that can be purchased. Add to this the benefit of our 44 years constant experience and persistent effort to improve our methods and equipment, and you have the essentials of exceptional service."

"In well drilling the best water for home use is found either in sandstone or limestone formations. The source of limestone water found in lime rock formations is distributed over large areas; the beds of large rivers and lakes are sometimes in direct contact with the limestone formations. From these sources the water percolates through the cracks and crevices in the lime-rock and when a well is drilled into bedrock the cracks and crevices, which would permit the water to flow into the well.

"It is very necessary, however, to distinguish between the water that is present in the bed-rock proper and that in the strata of shellrock which overlies the bed rock. This water is nearly always of very poor quality and for that reason special care must be exercised to exclude it from the well, as contaminated water is a danger to health.

"Well casing or pipes that we use are well with are perfectly water tight from top to bottom. On all drilled wells we use a steel shoe on casings that is tapered and when driven through the shell rock seats firmly in the bed rock. In this manner we have a well properly installed and with every essential of a perfect well: An abundance of water safe for human consumption and with little danger of contamination. A properly equipped and responsible contractor will not hesitate to guarantee such a well."

JACK LOCKWILL BACK AT ROCKLAKE

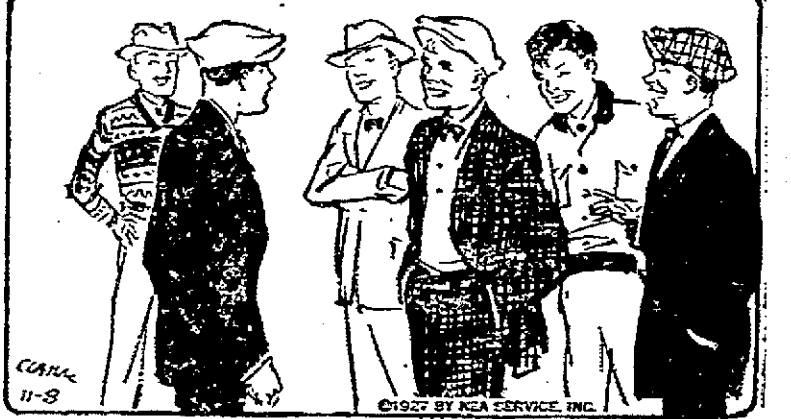

"I think it is, sir," Jack confessed. "It's too bad!" "It certainly is!" agreed Professor Jamison, blushing as he held out the picture. "It's disgraceful! Scandalous! Take it!" Lockwill apologized profusely as he accepted the photograph. "I don't wonder you wanted to get it back!" said the old professor. "I advise you to destroy it without delay."

As Old Nemesis walked stiffly away, Darling came out. "That mermaid's picture gave the old boy a shock," snickered Willie. "I guess he read what I wrote on it."

"I must get the others back somehow," said Jack. "That gang can make me look cheap with the darned things." He strode away to search for the ink-bespattered jokers.

He had no trouble about finding the boys he was looking for, but all of them protested that they had thrown the pictures away when the approach of Old Nemesis made them run. "Somebody must have picked them up," said Cub Maddox, whose face shone from a recent scrubbing. "We didn't suppose you'd take a harmless joke so seriously, Lockwill. Don't be a boob." "What makes Joe limp? Was he hurt in the football game?"

"No, he worn his raccoon coat out in the country and got caught in a trap." - Life.

YES, ISN'T IT?

"My husband's so jealous."

"Isn't that embarrassing?"

"Yes, isn't yours jealous?"

"Not a bit."

"Just that humiliating?" - Tit-Bits.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF

"Have you solved the problem of intimating to your daughters callers that it's time to go home?"

"Oh, yes, it's no trouble at all. I promptly at twelve o'clock I turn on the living room lights from the upstairs switch." - Judge.

TOWNSCHRISTMAS TREES
SENT SOUTHWARD

Scarcity Is More Noticeable
Year by Year, New London
Dealers Declare

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Loads of Christmas trees are making their appearance at various places in the city, and great truckloads of them are passing through to points south. Many dealers from this city who have made a business of picking up the little trees which are so popular at this season say that a scarcity of trees becomes more apparent year after year.

Ten years ago trees might be bought for an extremely low figure anywhere within a radius of five miles about New London. Trees now must be brought farther north, and are higher in price. Cutting of trees has really begun since the cold weather began, one dealer said. Before the recent freeze-up it was hard to get into the swamps because of soggy marshland and bogs which would not bear the weight of a man. Thursday and Friday increasing numbers of loads have been seen, and the price ranges from 50 cents to $1.50 per tree. These same trees sell much higher in Milwaukee and Chicago.

Charles Ueck, owner of a little tree nursery for many years shipped Christmas trees, is no longer in the business. Trees, he stated are no longer to be cut for nothing and many farmers will not allow cutters on their property.

Waupaca County Supervisors Recommend Purchase of Plows and Fences

Waupaca—Provision for adequate snow removal from the Waupaca County highways will be made by the county board, according to the resolution drafted by the supervision Thursday at Waupaca. The resolution as finally drawn up, and which it is stated, will be adopted Friday morning, calls for an appropriation of $9,000. One large snowplow will be purchased at a cost of $2,000 and $3,000 will be expended for small plows to be used on small tractors and trucks. $4,000 will be set aside for labor and miscellaneous expenses and $1,000 for fences.

The supervisors voted to appoint a special committee to build up a system of county trunk roads after the plan employed in the State trunk road program. Appointments will be made Friday.

Mrs. Hazel Barton, county nurse, gave her annual report at the morning session, and also talked to the supervisors on the value of community health centers.

Fred Fisher of Waupaca was elected to the highway committee in place of Mr. Jorenson. The other two members of the committee, Mr. Schoepke and Mr. Myhre were reelected. All of the other county offices filled by the board will have the same incumbents as last year. Julius Friedrickson will be janitor of the court house, Mrs. Hazel Barton, county nurse, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanson will be agent and matron of the county home, and Robert Smith trustee for the asylum.

Committees are working on appropriations for road work in the various towns. Full schedules, which will not be completed until Saturday, will probably total close to $100,000.

The Clintonville Gazette was given the job of publishing the board proceedings and the printing of 700 pamphlets containing the same. Their bid for doing this work was $200.

The sum of $1,000 was placed at the disposal of the county attorney for the purpose of running down law violators in the county.

Thursday night the Waupaca Chamber of Commerce entertained the county board and county officials in Castle hall. This affair, which is held annually, consisted of music, speeches and refreshments.

FEATHERED FACTS AND FANCIES

HERE BENJAMIN! TAKE THIS UMBRELLA, I HEARD A RAINCROW JUST NOW!

UNPERSTITION HAS IT THAT THE CUCKOO'S CALL, "K-KUK, K-KUK, K-KUK, COW, COW, COW," FORETELLS RAIN!

THE LESS COMMON BLACK-BILLED CUCKOO IS VERY SIMILAR TO THE YELLOW-BILL IN APPEARANCE. HIS BILL IS BLACK AS HIS NAME INDICATES AND HIS TAIL IS ONLY SLIGHTLY TIPPED WITH WHITE, WHICH SHOWS IN LARGE SPOTS ON THE YELLOW-BILL.

UNLIKE MOST BIRDS, THE CUCKOO LIVES THE HAIRY, FUZZY CATERPILLARS JUST AS WELL AS ANY OTHER. HE HAS DONE UNESTIMABLE GOOD FOR FRUIT GROWERS, SINCE THE DESTRUCTIVE TENT CATERPILLARS AND GYPSEY MOTHS ARE FAVORITE DISHES ON HIS MENU!

REMUS STILL HATES
WIFE HE MURDERED
TO SATISFY REVENGE

Deplores Fact That She Died
Before He Could Tell Her
How He Hated Her

BY ALLENE SUMNER
Cincinnati—George Remus, "king of the bootleggers," now on trial for the shooting to death of his second wife, Imogene Holmes Remus, is one of the queerest murderers science has ever studied.

For George Remus, the $5-a-week drug clerk who defied the law to become a multi-millionaire, and who killed because he hated and thirsted for revenge, has not been freed from his thirst for vengeance by the bullet which killed his wife.

He only thirsts more. Not a tear has he shed for his dead wife nor for his act of passion that killed her. Imogene Holmes Remus haunts "The King" even more in death than in life, for he cannot now get at her again to taunt her more, and the mere act of killing was too brief to satisfy rage pent up for months.

I visited "The King" in his office cell. This cell is granted Remus, attorney for the defense, for Remus is his own counsel, but Remus, the self-confessed murderer, must sleep in his cell in "solitary" at night.

WOULD KILL AGAIN
I went to see the usual conscience-stricken murderer, pained with terror and grief and awful remorse. I found a murderer who only asked for the chance to kill again.

"She died before I could tell her how I hated her," he says.

George Remus is wronged by the woman who betrayed him, he says, far more in her death than in her life. She will not let him sleep nights, nor eat nor ponder over his law books.

"I keep thinking how I hate her," he says.

The Remus love story may be told by now. But "The King" tells it like this:

"My first wife was a good and lovely woman—the only woman I ever loved. We were living with our little daughter Romola in Chicago. I had a $5,000 a year law practice. Most of my cases were divorces for women. That was how I met Imogene Holmes.

"I don't know why I did it, but she betrayed me and caused me and my daughter to go to college on her. I never had the slightest idea of giving up my home for her. But one day when I was at her home a plumber began to make trouble. I pitched into him and knocked him down. Unfortunately, it happened in that silk-stocking district of Evanston. Anyone who lived there was 'good' money for the vipers. It was played up in the 'Tribune' and 'Herald'.

"Payment Attorney Assaults Plumber in Fair Client's House."

Atlanta pen that this woman, this person, this lump of clay, this mass of potage for which I sold my home and family, was 'the best woman who ever entered the prison.' They called her 'the angel of the pen.'

"How she loved to show off! She even scrubbed out my cell on her hands and knees, brought me flowers and roast chicken and cake, and babied and petted me, just to knife me in the back."

Beads of sweat formed upon the pudgy little man's bulging forehead as he told how his wife looted his mansion of its furniture, even—he says—tearing out light fixtures from the ceiling and plate glass from the doors, selling all his accumulated fortune after wheedling him into giving her power of attorney.

Bitterest drop of all to him is his belief that she betrayed him with the very man who had helped put him behind prison bars, and that this man shared in the Remus fortune.

A REGULAR OFFICE
Calling on Remus, the murderer, is not much unlike calling on any attorney in his office. A guard at the main jail door slides back the door so quickly at a reporter's approach that one is barely conscious of iron bars.

I found him tipped back in a chair, a towel under his chin, and a guard shaving him and rubbing hair rum over the bushy fringe of hair edging his heart-shaped bald pate.

Remus, his kishpish jowls rosy, his nails pink and as glossy as his black shoes which reflected his blue tulle trouser creases, his tie an artistic creation of batik blue bedecked with a lustrous pearl, met me as suavely as though in his own office.

The tiny little cell room was full of a jumbled mass of blankets, boxes, baskets, but there was a professional looking desk piled high with Remus' law books, files, a clean white bed, and a private bath in which could be seen "The King's" hair lotion and complexion bottles.

A "secretary" pulls out a chair, and the value plucks off his towel. "The King" has the entire outfit of jail guards at his beck and call. "And it isn't just for his cigars—he's a guy with a heart," one of them told me.

Sprays of holly decorated the office cell. "From my mansion on the hill," the King proudly explained. There were baskets and vases, too, of withered crimson roses. "From Romola, my daughter," he explained, breaking into a voluble torrent of affection for his daughter and "only wife," as he puts it.

SEEKS BIG WORDS
Remus takes his day very seriously now. He is up at 3:30 every morning doing his exercises to keep fit for the trial. Then Remus consults the dictionary for more and bigger words. He never uses one word when six may be squeezed in, nor one syllable when a dozen may be found. "I must corral myself together," "the egregious and excruciating principle at stake," "from the teeming fullness of my grateful heart," are some of his pet vocal exercises.

BIRDS RIDE ON LINER
New York—When the South American liner Aconagua came into port recently, officers told of a flock of small birds stealing a ride on the ship of the coast of Columbia. The birds were of an unknown variety, they said, and so numerous that they obscured the sun as they swarmed over the ship.

The tiny little cell room was full of a jumbled mass of blankets, boxes, baskets, but there was a professional looking desk piled high with Remus' law books, files, a clean white bed, and a private bath in which could be seen "The King's" hair lotion and complexion bottles.

A "secretary" pulls out a chair, and the value plucks off his towel. "The King" has the entire outfit of jail guards at his beck and call. "And it isn't just for his cigars—he's a guy with a heart," one of them told me.

Sprays of holly decorated the office cell. "From my mansion on the hill," the King proudly explained. There were baskets and vases, too, of withered crimson roses. "From Romola, my daughter," he explained, breaking into a voluble torrent of affection for his daughter and "only wife," as he puts it.

SEEKS BIG WORDS
Remus takes his day very seriously now. He is up at 3:30 every morning doing his exercises to keep fit for the trial. Then Remus consults the dictionary for more and bigger words. He never uses one word when six may be squeezed in, nor one syllable when a dozen may be found. "I must corral myself together," "the egregious and excruciating principle at stake," "from the teeming fullness of my grateful heart," are some of his pet vocal exercises.

BIRDS RIDE ON LINER
New York—When the South American liner Aconagua came into port recently, officers told of a flock of small birds stealing a ride on the ship of the coast of Columbia. The birds were of an unknown variety, they said, and so numerous that they obscured the sun as they swarmed over the ship.

PRIZE FOR LETTER
ABOUT DODGE AUTO

Put on Contest in Connection
With Their Recent Installation of Radio Hour

Responses already received indicate a widespread interest in prize letter competition began recently by Dodge Brothers, Inc. in connection with the broadcast of "Dodge Brothers Dependable Hour of Music" each Friday evening over the Columbia chain of radio stations.

A cash prize of $200 will be awarded each month to the writer of the best letter on "Why I Own a Dodge Car" or "Why I Want a Dodge." The contest is open to everyone who is a Dodge Brothers' and Dodge Brothers dealers' employee and members of their families.

Letters are not to exceed 150 words and are to be based upon the writer's own experience with Dodge Brothers cars, the experience of his friends or any other logical line of reasoning. No money, security or other financial stake will be the basis upon which the best letter is chosen and the winner will be picked by a committee of prominent citizens.

The conditions under which the contest is being conducted provide that the best letter received each week will be read during each of Friday night programs over the Columbia System and the winner for the month will be picked from those read. Letters must be written upon special blanks which can be secured from any Dodge dealer. There is no limit to the number of members of a family who may submit letters but no individual may submit more than one a month. All letters must be addressed to Radio Committee, Dodge Brothers, Inc., Detroit, Mich.

The stations which are included in the Columbia System blanket the country from Newark, New Jersey as far west as the Mississippi. They are: WOR, Newark; WEAN, Providence; WNAC, Boston; WFIL, Scranton; WMAK, Buffalo; WCAU, Philadelphia; WJAS, Pittsburgh; WADC, Akron; WAIL, Columbus; WKRC, Cincinnati; WGB, Detroit; WLAQ, Chicago; KMOX, St. Louis; WOWO, Fort Wayne and WCAO, Baltimore.

FOREIGN VISITORS
AT OLDS FACTORY

Come from Abroad to Witness Construction of Automobiles at Lansing

Indicative of the great public interest in automobiles, a check of the register at the Oldsmobile factory at Lansing, Michigan, shows that an average of more than 115 visitors inspect the plant each working day. In a period of ten months this year 24,236 visitors had been recorded.

Probably due to the additional travel of the vacation season the greatest number of visitors call during the summer months with the peak being reached in August. Also at this season of the year brings the greatest number of women, who, during the summer months equal the number of men callers.

Every state and possession of the United States are represented by Oldsmobile visitors as well as many foreign countries and principalities. Visitors were received from England, Germany, France, Italy, Brazil, India, Argentina, Australia, Mexico, New Zealand and many other countries.

Guides who are thoroughly conversant with all manufacturing processes escort visitors through the Oldsmobile factories several times daily. These factories are of particular interest, representing as they do the development of the automotive industry. The building now used for delivery deliveries is part of the original Oldsmobile factory which began manufacturing cars before 1900 and where quantity production methods were first introduced in the industry. In comparison other buildings where manufacturing processes are carried on represent the most modern automobile shop design and layout.

NEW FORD LOOKS LIKE BABY LINCOLN

Appleton will get its first full description of the new line of Ford automobiles, tomorrow.

A public reception to be held by local dealers is part of the national introduction of the new Ford models. In thousands of communities all over the United States tomorrow this new line of moderate-priced light automobiles will be introduced to millions of people.

The doors of the showrooms are to be opened early and attendants will be on hand throughout the remainder of the day to explain the new and interesting features of the car which is expected to make a new chapter in automobile history.

The new Ford cars are said to be the product of several years of study and planning by Henry Ford and his engineers in the great Ford laboratories at Dearborn. Mr. Ford himself has announced that "there is nothing quite like the new Ford car" and has stated that it will prove just as great a pioneer in the present field of low price light cars of quality as the famous Model T was a pioneer in its field for more than nineteen years.

Among the visitors to the reception tomorrow will be many city officials, executives of business, civic and professional organizations and other leaders in the life of the community.

The performance of these new cars, it is said, will be startling when viewed in the light of automobile performance of the past.

Local dealers have been notified by Ford officials at Detroit that the fact that the new cars are being introduced in this country is a cause of this policy, present owners of Model T Ford cars will be able to keep their cars in perfect order as long as those cars remain in commission.

Company officials at Detroit also repeated their early announcement that production of the new Ford line will not make the Model T line obsolete. The manufacture of new parts for Model T replacements will continue to be an important factor of the Ford plants as long as any of the Model T cars are still in operation. The local dealers were advised, however, that the new cars are being introduced in this country is a cause of this policy, present owners of Model T Ford cars will be able to keep their cars in perfect order as long as those cars remain in commission.

DELIVERY CYCLE KEEPS CUSTOMERS

Above is shown one of the open type Harley-Davidson Package Trucks, Model MW. This model has been a great favorite with grocers and meat markets all over the country for its simple capacity to take care of all their ordinary deliveries. It is built on a chassis having a 55 inch road tread which allows for an extra large truck body.

This is what the James H. Ford Motor Market, 2407 Newport St., Flint, Michigan has to say about their Harley-Davidson Package Truck:—

We are very much pleased with our Harley-Davidson Package Truck. It does our work in less time and at much lower cost than the truck we formerly used.

It is economical and gets there and back so quickly that we can make deliveries over a much larger trading area.

Now when a customer moves out of our neighborhood we do not lose his business. We have traced a number of new customers to the fact that they saw our equipment on the streets or saw us making deliveries in their neighborhood.

The reasons why we endorse motorcycle delivery for meat markets: It handles the load easily.

Does the work quickly and at low cost.

It is good advertising. Makes delivery profitable. We average 60 deliveries daily and 30 to 100 on Saturdays.

Tip THT THT THT THT THT Harry Macklin local Harley-Davidson dealer says: "One big advantage the motorcycle delivery man has over the other truck driver is the saving of time while out on the route. He can drive almost to the customers door, and when he gets back he does not have to climb up and squeeze under the steering wheel. He just throws his leg over the saddle and his foot is right on the starter crank. He does not have to drive 30 or 35 miles per hour to save time he saves time at every stop."

It handles the load easily.

TIRE COMPANY HAS ECONOMICAL MOTTO

"Stitch in Time Saves Nine" Policy Is Used by the Stanton Tire Service

Patrons of the Stanton Tire Service have a special invitation that few other car drivers enjoy, and that is to stop in regularly and have their tires checked free of charge. Attendants check the air and also advise repairs where there is a deep cut or sign of a blow out. The motto being a "stitch in time saves nine."

Users of General Cord Tires seldom change to other tires after they have used one set they religiously buy another, because of the satisfactory, carefree mileage they receive. At the same time the patrons of the Stanton tire service appreciate the fact that they can get gas, oil, alcohol, and tire repairs all in the large, new, light service station built recently.

Weed tire chains, and skid grip rubber chains are sold and serviced at Stanton's. Here at last is a read non-skid protection—steel toothed "Grips" that hold the road on ice, mud, or on wet and slippery pavements.

Skid Grips, a new and different kind of chain, actually do grip the road. No matter how treacherous the going, Skid Grips bite into the surface and hold you safe. Sand, mud, snow or ice—Skid Grips are no longer a covered hill, or quagmires of mud—it's all the same.

When your car needs a thorough greasing or washing and polishing try Stanton's, for they have equipment of the latest type, which means satisfactory work.

There are two service cars at your command at all hours of the day or night. Phone 1674 and an attendant will come to your rescue no matter where you are. Or if you prefer to put on the spare your self, bring in the flat tire when down town. Our station is conveniently located at the corner of Morrison and Washington streets. Just one block from College street.

plates become hardened and offer greater resistance to the charging current. In such a case the battery must be reformed at a very low rate for a considerable time, often three or four days. If, therefore, a car with a starved battery is taken on a long run, the normal charging rate will produce intense heat in the battery to such an extent that the plates will buckle. If the battery were in a normal healthy condition this would not occur.

A battery in this condition is likened to a man recovering from severe illness who is put on a healthy man's diet. If he begins with corned-beef and cabbage, instead of getting better he gets worse. In the same way, where a dieting charge would bring the battery back to a healthy condition, the normal full charge for a healthy battery will result in a complete breakdown.

Your storage battery is intended to do a certain amount of work. It is receiving a certain amount of energy of food. Therefore, in order to continue in a healthy condition it must give up a certain amount of energy in the same manner as the human body.

Willard Batteries are sold in Appleton by the Appleton Battery and Light Service, 239 E. Washington street.

GOOD TIMES SEEN

Packard Sales Manager Sees
Good Winter Season and Prosperity in Spring

A good winter and a season of prosperity next spring can confidently be anticipated in the opinion of R. E. Chamberlain, general sales manager of the Packard Motor Car Company. Mr. Chamberlain's conclusions are based on observance of general business conditions in a tour of the country just completed.

"A few localities are not as favored as the general average for the country," he said. "Conditions could be improved upon in one or two sections of the Northwest where the loss of China as a market has been felt. They could be greatly improved if the course in the flood areas of the Mississippi valley. However, business is nowhere nearly as bad in these sections as it might be thought it would be. The flood reduced the cotton increase materially, but the crops were above normal in the districts not inundated and prices have increased greatly."

"Montana hasn't been in better condition from the standpoint of business for years. There is a fine feeling there now. Crops were wonderful and prices for farm products high. The result is that Montana people are unusually prosperous. Business is unusually good in California also. It looks as if the people of the Pacific Coast were going to be blessed with one of the best winters they have enjoyed for years."

"For many years the general business situation of the country has been fairly well foretold by the iron and steel industry. Conditions in iron and steel also were indicated by the records of unfilled orders. The so-called hand-to-mouth buying system into which the country has now moved securely has changed this situation, I believe. For this reason I do not think there is any significance to be attached to the fact that the iron and steel mills are not working at 100 per cent capacity. If the business now being done by Packard is in any way indicative of what is coming for the rest of the automobile industry the steel mills will have to begin working over time in a short while."

"The total number of automobiles going into the hands of original purchasers has been decreased below normal very materially in the last six months. At the same time the normal number of obsolete cars has been passing into the junk heaps. This should result in a demand for automobiles in the spring which cannot be met by the industry if the indications of general prosperity and the statistics of the country's banks are not all wrong. With such a demand the automobile industry should be even more prosperous than usual."

Mr. Chamberlain's trip covered practically the whole country. With others of the Packard factory, including F. H. McKinney, advertising manager; J. A. Gilroy, educational director and J. W. Loranger, financial expert, he conducted meetings for Packard distributors and dealers in all except the New York and Chicago zones. The New York and Chicago meetings will be held during the national automobile shows in each place.

CHEVROLET TAKES OVER IRON PLANT

Mammoth Industry at Saginaw Will Be Big Help to Plants Facilities

W. S. Knudson, president of the Chevrolet Motor Company, today, announces that Chevrolet has taken over the mammoth iron foundry of the Saginaw Products Company, Inc. at Saginaw, Michigan. The newest plant acquisition of the Chevrolet Motor Company adds a $15,000,000 institution to the company's rapidly developing manufacturing operations and provides Chevrolet with foundry facilities second to none in the industry.

Mr. Knudson recently completed an inspection tour of Chevrolet plants in Detroit, Flint, Toledo, Saginaw, Buffalo, Tarrytown and Bloomfield and points out that the acquisition of the Saginaw plant brings Chevrolet manufacturing facilities to the highest point of completeness and efficiency yet attained.

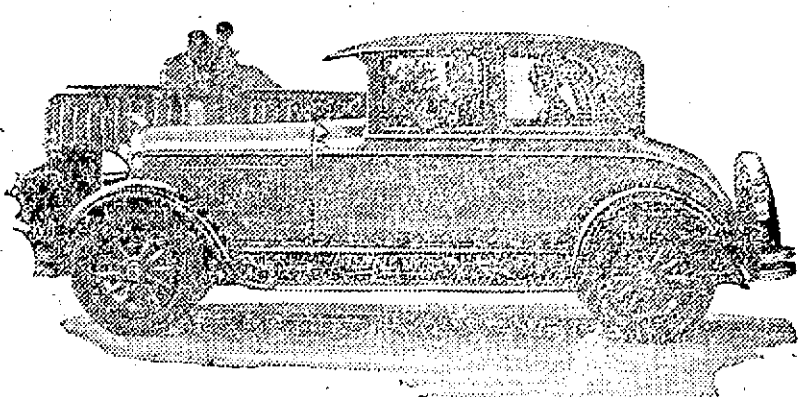

After the first of December the Saginaw foundry will be devoted exclusively to the pouring of Chevrolet castings. A new conveyor system and other labor saving devices, recently installed, give the plant a molding capacity of 800 tons of metal daily and make it one of the most up-to-date foundries in the world.

Outstanding among the features of the large plant is the ingenuity with which machines have been made to perform the vast bulk of foundry work. Specially designed mechanical conveyors shoulder practically all heavy burdens. Core manufacture, assembly and baking, the charging and discharging of the molten metal and the pouring of molten metal and the cooling, cleaning and finishing of castings all rely upon machinery more than ever. Human effort has been reduced to a minimum, resulting in increased capacity and a higher factor of safety. Buildings are of brick and steel construction and allow for 300,000 square feet of floor space. The plant employs 3,000 people when operating on a capacity basis. Arnold Lenz, one of the foremost foundry experts in the country, is in general charge.

Frank E. Von Isachsen, of Vienna, is said to have been the first woman who attempted to swim the English Channel. She made her first try in 1920.

When the Buick dealers of the Oklahoma City Branch territory visited the Buick factory at Flint, Mich., recently, William A. Burke, dealer at Okmulgee, made the trip by air. He is a pilot of 12 years' experience, and uses his plane constantly in his business. In this instance it enabled him to make the Michigan trip with a minimum of "time out." Burke is the central figure in the picture, the others being William H. Alexander of the Buick factory, left, and J. S. Lindsey, manager of the Oklahoma City Buick Branch.

GIVE CHOICE OF WHEELS

The Studebaker Commander Victoria. All Studebaker Commander and Dictator models are now offered with either wood or disc wheels.

The Commander, Studebaker's world champion automobile that recently traveled 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 minutes, will hereafter be available in either wood or disc wheels, according to H. Curtis, local Studebaker dealer. The announcement also includes the cars of the Dictator line of Studebakers.

"Either wood or disc wheels may be obtained now on Commander and Dictator models," said Mr. H. Curtis. "There is a difference of $50 between the two wheel types, the wood wheels being the least expensive. The Commander line now ranges in price from $1495 to $1745, while the Dictator line extends from $1165 for 'The Tourer' to $1345. All prices are f.o.b. South Bend."

"This choice of wood or disc wheels is but another example of the Studebaker policy of giving the public what it wants. A wide selection in colors, seating arrangements, body types and features of comfort and luxury is offered by Studebaker."

"In addition every Studebaker automobile's list price includes more than $100 worth of extra equipment. Such extras as front and rear bumpers, shock absorbers, rear view mirror, four traffic signal lamps, twin-beam headlights controlled from the top of steering wheel, coincidental lock to ignition and steering post with the same key unlocking the door and spare tire lock, exclusive Studebaker windshield that permits full ventilation even in rainstorms and many other features are delivered with the car at no extra cost," according to H. Curtis. Studebaker-Kearney distributor in this city, located at 215 E. Washington-st.

HUGE MAIL POUCH

Dodge Brothers Have Large-

Handles Most Mail

Detroit's largest mailing department, and the one which handles the largest amount of all classes of mail is that of Dodge Brothers, automobile and truck manufacturers, experts from the post office department at Washington state. The Dodge mail division also has been notably successful, they say, in establishing an efficient method of handling all classes of mail.

On the average, 11,000 pieces of incoming first-class mail and 25,000 pieces of outgoing first-class mail are handled daily papers, trade papers, Dodge Brothers, Inc. In addition, it handles daily paper, trade papers, trade magazines, second, third and fourth-class mail and parcel post packages alone average a half freight car daily. This does not include the various special mailings for which regular days are set aside. The weekly output of special material averages 18,000 envelopes per week, a line about two miles long if extended end to end.

Few stamps are used on outgoing first-class mail, postage being paid by means of an indicia printed on each letter by an automatic metering machine which stamps and seals the letters at a rate of 15,000 per hour. Incoming mail is opened by an electric letter-opener at the rate of 10 per second.

A system of collecting mail at the main post-office in Detroit is carried out four times daily and the schedules are also arranged that the driver arrives at the post-office in sufficient time to catch the important trains and late enough that the mail from the largest cities has been sorted for Dodge Brothers.

KEEP BATTERIES UP AND FULL OF WATER

Empty, Starved Battery Won't Last Long and Will Cause Trouble

Neglect to keep the battery filled with pure distilled water is one of the greatest evils, as well as the most common, and shortens its life quicker than anything else. Evaporation of water in the solution is continuous, says Mr. Al Schroeder, local Willard dealer.

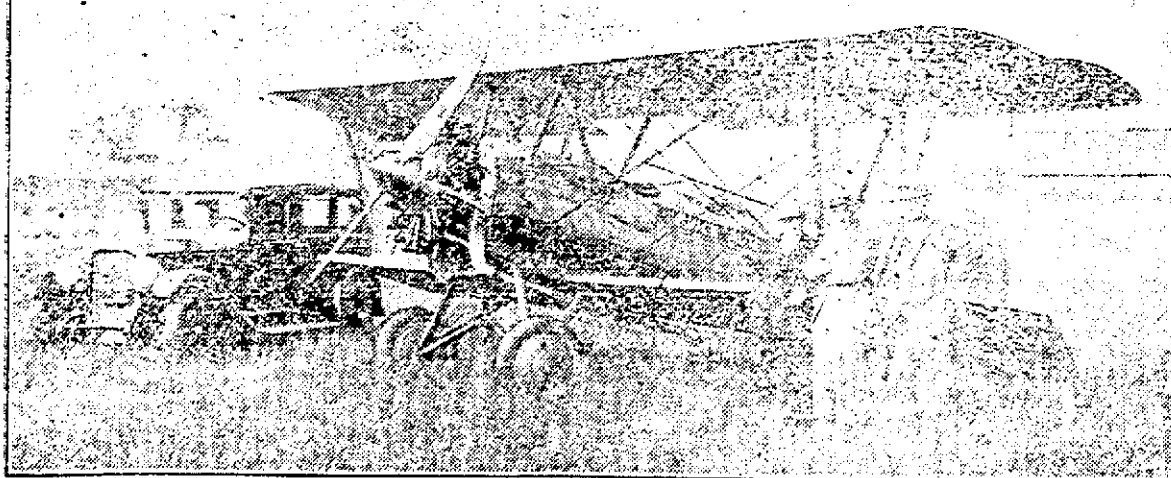

If the level of the water is permitted to reach a point below the tops of the plates, the upper portion is left exposed and useless. If only one-half of the surface of the plates is covered by the solution, a normal charging rate is equivalent to twice the amount of current which should go through the covered portion. This causes rapid overheating and damage not seen at the time, but which results in considerable expense later.

A physician will always recommend plenty of pure water. Apply this same principle to your battery and always keep it filled, so that it may work properly.

An undercharged condition, continuing for some time, may be the direct cause of over-heating. This starved condition may be due to the inexperience or carelessness of the driver, who does not use judgment in operating the battery, or who uses the starter or lights more than is necessary.

When undercharged for some time,
